THANKS TO ALL

November 11, 1942
To the voters of educational division No. 1, Morgan county, Kentucky:

I want to thank each and all of you who voted for me as a member of the county board of education. I have no ill feeling for those who voted against me. All had the right to take their choice between us.

Without regard to whether you voted for or against me, I shall do the very best that is in me for the schools and school children as well as the tax-payers of Morgan county. The election is over and the bitterness, if any, is forgotten so far as I am concerned.

(Adv.) Yours very truly,
W. G. RATLIFF

DEAR GUY

November 10, 1942
Just one month ago tonight, Dear Guy, you came in about 10:30 with that bright, sweet smile of yours to tell Mother good night, but darling Mother just couldn't have thought she would never hear that sweet voice say "Good Night, Mother again. I was so proud of you I just couldn't worry. Everywhere I go I miss you, darling, and sometimes life seems almost impossible without you. But darling, God knows best, and He and only He knows why and how, and someday, dear darling Guy, our little family will meet again where no hearts are bleeding and broken, no sorrow or pain, for there's no disappointment in heaven. Until then, darling Guy, good night.

SCRAP METAL

On Wednesday, Oct. 28, the fiscal court of Morgan county released six old bridges that are not in condition for repair, to the scrap metal drive. This is a good move on the court's part since, according to men in authority, scrap metal is the thing needed most at this time in our nation's war effort.

According to the department of highway's estimate on the weight of the bridges, together with all the other scrap metal that has been collected in this drive, Morgan county has reached its quota. This accomplishment is an indication as to what people can do by all working together. Such splendid cooperation is our best assurance of winning this war. A number of citizens not only gave their time and collected scrap metal, but contributed better than a ton of good metal to the drive.

The silk thus reclaimed will be used for the manufacture of powder bags, which hold the gun powder used in big guns. Nylon is used for the manufacture of other important war materials.

FINE ARTS MEETING

The finer arts department of the Woman's Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Carl Reeves. Miss Floris Cox was in charge of the program, entitled "Accessories of Dress."

The following persons appeared on the program and each brought an article to represent her talk:

Mrs. Rexford Byrd, "The Walking Stick."

Mrs. Harold Nickell, "The Umbrella and Parasol."

Mrs. Woodrow Barber, "The Handbag."

Mrs. Kenneth Fairchild, "The Fan."

Mrs. Floris Cox, "The Handkerchief."

Mrs. Blaine Nickell, "The Mirror."

The literary department and the Kiwanis club are making contributions to purchase three magazines: "Readers Digest," "The National Geographic," and "Life Magazine" for the Morgan county high school.

Delicious refreshments were served to Chrystal Howard, Mrs. Yandal Wrather, Mrs. Kenneth Fairchild, Mrs. Rexford Byrd, Mrs. Harold Nickell, Mrs. Woodrow Barber, Mrs. Blaine Nickell, Miss Floris Cox, and the hostess, Mrs. Reeves.

The next meeting will be a business meeting on Tuesday at 3:15 p.m., Nov. 17, in room 7 of Morgan county high school.

Heavy Artillery, Planes Dominate Action As British Strike at Rommel Positions; See 10½ Billion Farm Income for 1943; Baruch Urged to Make Manpower Study

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

SOUTH PACIFIC Costly Exchange

When Navy Secretary Frank Knox told his press conference that Jap fleet units had retired from the scene of action around Guadalcanal and that the "first round of the battle" was over naval experts began trying to figure out who got the decision in the encounter. U. S. citizens heard the bad news first: the navy had lost the destroyer Porter and an aircraft carrier. (This was in addition to the loss of the carrier Wasp, announced earlier.) This brought to a total of four plane carriers that have been destroyed by the Japs in this war.

Then came news of a bit brighter note: Before the Japs left the area to "lick their wounds" and return for more action, U. S. forces had damaged two aircraft carriers, two battleships and three cruisers. More than 100 enemy airplanes were destroyed and about 50 others probably destroyed in what the navy described as the greatest battle yet fought in the Solomons area.

But the most important result of this heavy sea and air fighting was that it brought at least temporary relief to the hard-pressed marine and army units holding their positions on Guadalcanal itself. The Jap objective in launching the big battle had been to dislodge these outnumbered units who in mid-August had pushed the Japs out.

Meanwhile, dispatches from U. S. headquarters in Australia revealed that land-based army planes had been slashing constantly at Jap positions in the areas of the Buin-Paisi harbor in the northern Solomons and at Rabaul, New Britain Island. Forty Jap ships were reported hit in a ten-day period. All of this meant much-needed diversion of Jap strength which was directed at capture of the Solomons, and then pushing forward to cut supply lines from the U. S. to Australia.

DESERT WARFARE: Allied Air Umbrella

Slam-bang warfare continued on the Alamein line between the Mediterranean sea and the Qattara depression in Egypt as Britain's eighth army struck sledgehammer blows at German and Italian positions.

Although Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces struck back savagely, the British infantry held on to early gains. Protected by hundreds of guns and a supreme Allied air umbrella, the infantry jolted enemy troops loose from another section of the Alamein line.

The great tank battles of previous campaigns in the desert were missing in the initial onslaught of the new British drive. Heavy artillery and planes played the dominant role. American fliers strengthened the drive, sweeping up enemy areas, shooting up troop concentrations, tanks and airfields.

Cairo reports to British newspapers said that Allied forces had "trapped" several thousand Axis troops in a narrow pocket west of El Alamein near the Mediterranean coast.

While it was the avowed intention of the British command to destroy Rommel and his army, some sources saw another effect: Germany might be forced to withdraw German planes and men from Russia to meet the even more critical threat on the desert.

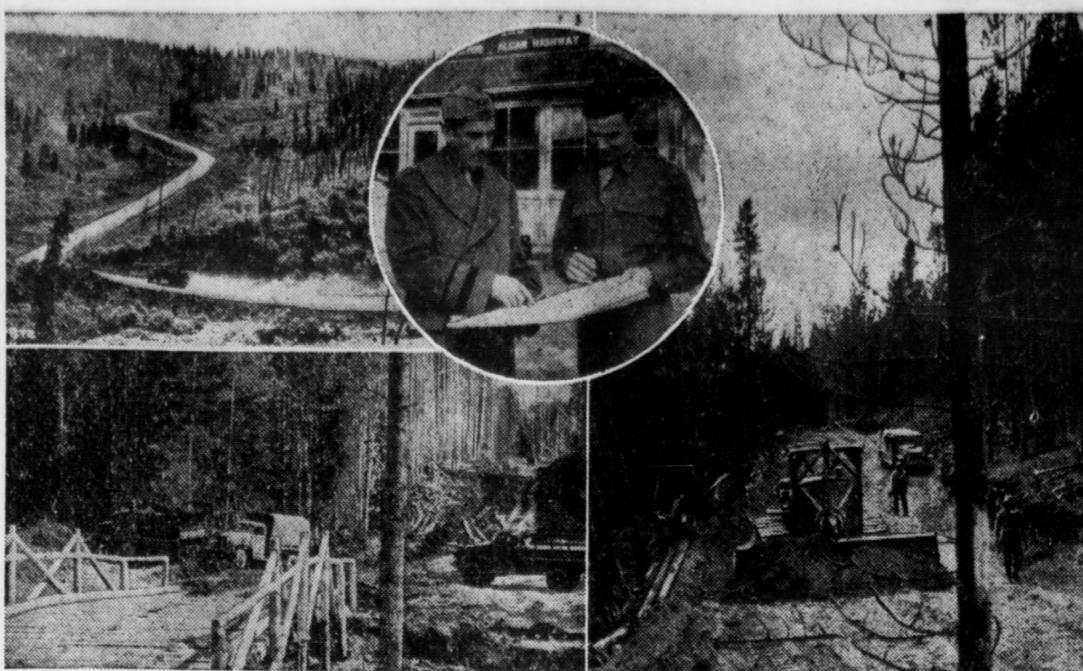

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

PUNCTURE: The Office of Price Administration has reiterated its approval of a proposal that retail grocers punch holes in the tops of vacuum packed coffee cans to discourage hoarding.

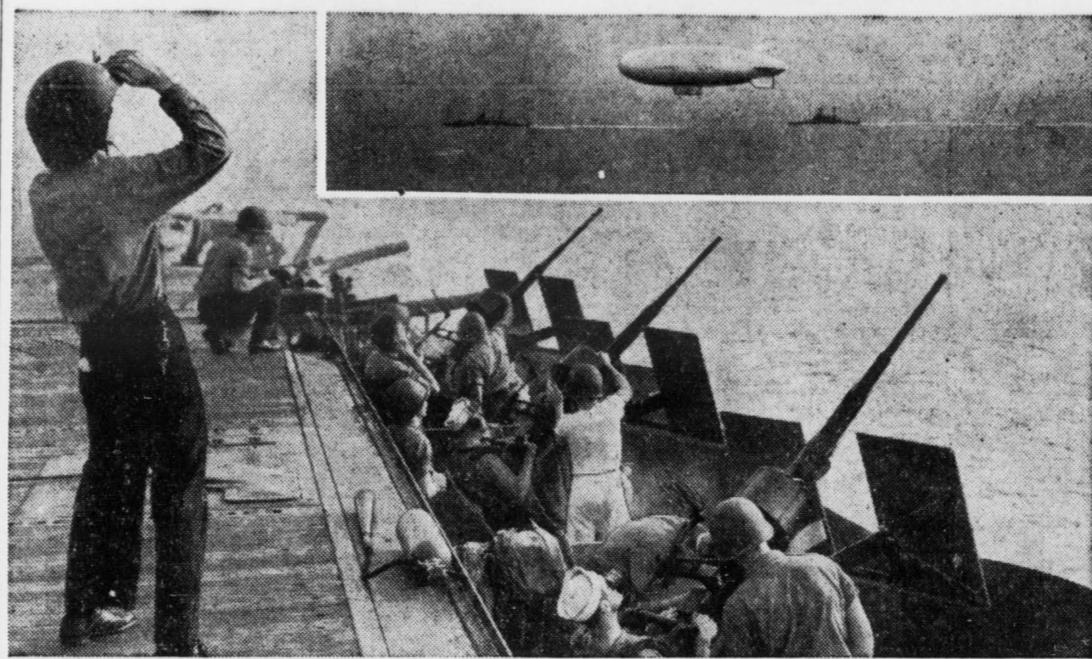

DEPORTED: Twenty-six Germans and five Italians, alleged to have engaged in Nazi and Fascist activities, have been deported from Nicaragua to the United States.

FIRST: First man to drive a jeep over the new Alaska highway was Lieut. Robert H. Gill of the U. S. Army air forces. The 1,450-mile trip from Edmonton, Alberta, to Whitehorse, Yukon territory, took five days.

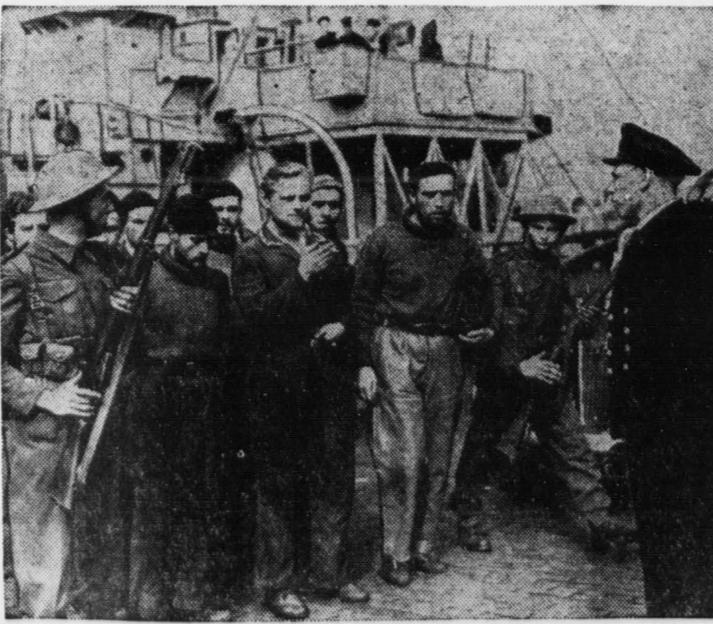

BOMBLESS: Much-bombed Malta recently had its first day free of daylight air alerts for several months.

Trucks Now Rolling Over Alaskan Highway

U. S. troops and supplies are now rolling into Alaska over the Alaska Highway (Alcan), which was finished months ahead of schedule. The 1,600-mile road ends at Fairbanks. Photos show (right), a bulldozer knocking a trail through virgin forest; lower left, a "carry-all" puts the finishing touches to a section of the highway as trucks haul over gravel for surfacing; upper left, scenic view of the Alcan as it winds through the Yukon. Circle: Brig. Gen. William Hoge and Maj. E. J. Stann, executive officer, discuss route at Whitehorse.

Uncle Sam's Watch Dogs of Sea and Sky

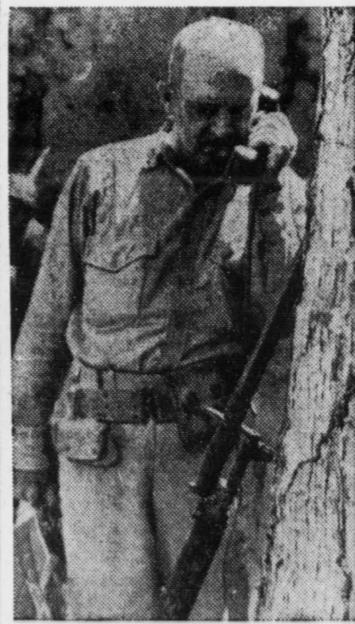

In lower picture three 20-mm. anti-aircraft machine guns chatter out a song of potential death and destruction as their crack crews man them during gunnery practice on a U. S. airplane carrier. (Inset): The TC-14 hovers watchfully overhead as two U. S. navy battlewagons plow through the seas off the American coast. Navy blimps are becoming increasingly popular for patrol and escort work along the coast.

Captured in Battle With British Corvette

In a midnight Atlantic ocean battle the corvette Dianthus rammed and sank a U-boat which had been imperiling United Nations supply lines. After the U-boat was blown to the surface with depth charges the Dianthus rammed it four times. A number of German prisoners were picked up by the Dianthus, which rejoined her convoy in time to rescue survivors from a torpedoed merchant ship. Here are some of the U-boat prisoners disembarking from HMS Dianthus at a British port.

Court's in Order on U. S. Carrier

The court of Neptunus Rex, Ruler of the Raging Main, convenes on the deck of a U. S. aircraft carrier as the ship nears the equator. While the court prepared to convert "pollywogs" (men who have never crossed the line) into shellbacks, other members of the crew keep a sharp lookout for the enemy.

Fighting General

A fighting man from the ground up is Maj. Gen. A. A. Vandergrift, of the U. S. marines. He is shown here using a field telephone on Guadalcanal island, in the Solomons. Note the general's rifle and bayonet leaning against the tree.

Children's Friend

Sister Elizabeth Kenny, Australian nurse, who was awarded the Parents' magazine's annual medal for outstanding service to children, in recognition of her contribution to the treatment of infantile paralysis. Her method has had wide endorsement after extensive tests.

A Gentle Way to Treat Constipation!

Get up and cheer, constipation sufferers! If you are one of the millions of people with normal intestines who suffer due to lack of "bulk" in the diet — here's news of a gentler, pleasanter way to solve your trouble.

You see, many medicinal laxatives prod the intestines into action or draw moisture from them from other parts of the body. But KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, a crisp, delicious cereal, acts quite differently. It works principally on the contents of your colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination. Eat it often and drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped, by this simple treatment, see your doctor.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Japan now controls about 89% of the rubber plantations of the world. Regardless of whether synthetic rubber is made from petroleum, grain, shrubs or chemicals it will be some time before car owners will be able to purchase tires made from tire. War purposes have first call.

300 rubber parts, not including tires and tubes, are used in the modern automobile. Without rubber the car would truly be a "jolt" wagon.

There is talk these days of re-opening the Berlin Wall. Quite a jump from the 3,600,000 capped - retreaded mark of 1937.

All vehicles were on over 885,000 farms in 1940; 15.8% of the farms had motor trucks and 23.1% motor tractors.

PREPAREDNESS by + the AMERICAN RED CROSS

A NATION at war must guard its health. One sure guard, and one of the best forms of preparedness is proper diet. Since World War I, the American Red Cross has offered the nation's housewives nutrition courses, designed to teach both men and women how to eat and keep well and strong. But Americans felt that since they were the best fed people of the world, they must also be the best nourished. In that belief they were mistaken.

The army reported that one-third of all applicants for war service were being rejected because of poor health—bad teeth, heart trouble, poor eyesight, skin diseases—all traceable to undernourishment. America's mothers and housewives were shocked into action.

Within the past year, more than 250,000 women have won Red Cross Food and Nutrition certificates by attending these courses held by Red Cross chapters in more than 1,850 counties throughout the United States.

In these Food and Nutrition courses, women learned the importance of preparing and serving the right amounts of the right kinds of foods—foods which contained the needed health protective qualities to keep their husbands fit for jobs in the shipyards, the farms, the mines, the steel mills, and to build their children into physically stronger Americans.

Gallant Chap's Thoughts Were but Badly Worded

She was young and pretty, and her confusion as she fumbled vainly in her handbag for small change to pay her fare on the bus was quite charming.

"Could you change a five dollar bill for me, please?" she asked, smiling shyly.

"Sorry, miss," replied the conductor. "But don't you worry; you can pay me the ten cents some other time."

"But you may never see me again," replied the young lady.

"Well, what's the odds?" he said, meaning to be gallant. "It won't break my heart if I don't."

Chinese 'Rights'

In New York city, every Chinese who rents a store or some other business building claims that he has a "basic property right" in it and, therefore, will not allow another Chinese to lease it until the man has purchased this right, says Collier's. When such a demand runs into thousands of dollars, the owner is seldom able to rent the property again to a member of this race.

Hot or Cold?
A track supervisor received the following note from one of his foremen:

"Am sending in accident report on Casey's foot, which he struck with the spike maul. Now, under 'Remarks,' do you want mine or Casey's?"

His Line
"Any man can find work if he'll only use his brains," said the efficiency expert. "Thinking, of course, he is ready to adapt himself to circumstances, like a piano-tuner. I once met on the Canadian prairie."

"But even if he was adaptable," protested one listener, "he couldn't make piano-tuning pay with piano so few and far between."

"Admitted," replied the expert, "but he made quite a decent living tightening up barbed-wire fences."

Could Be

A diplomat once told a story about a Chinese committing suicide by eating a gold leaf.

"Probably," the diplomat answered, "he died from the consciousness of inward guilt."

The Date of Hitler's Fall!

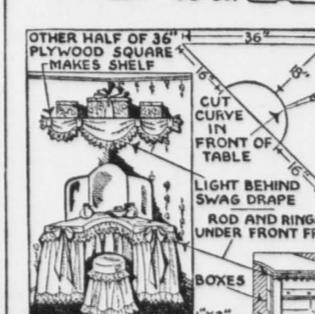

Ten years ago, Germany's famous astrologer, Hanussen, predicted the rape of Poland, the fall of France, the invasion of Poland and the invasion of Germany, and then Hanussen gave the date of Hitler's fall and predicted when it would come. During the past 1,400 years, seven different Prophets forecast all that has already happened in Europe, and all that is to come, and all that is yet to come. All are agreed as to the fate of Germany, Italy and Japan, but differ as to the exact date of the exact time of Hitler's death. Would you like to know this more? What you like to lift the veil and see what is coming in the months and years just ahead? Read the book "Hitler's Fall" by Dr. Hanussen. Only $1.88 post paid, if cash is sent with order, or C. O. D. plus the postage. Money returned if not satisfied. Order from EUREKA SALES PROMOTION SERVICE P. O. Box 188, Gen. P. O., New York City.

An Idea or Two

Is a moralist one who applies spiritual laws to material things?

Religion suffers considerably from the business managers of churches.

It might not be a bad idea, in 1943, to plant vegetables instead of flowers.

Few workers have the idea that increases in wages and salaries are evil.

We can be thankful this year because no bombs are falling upon American cities.

The main reason nobody understands life is that nobody attempts to understand it.

The man who has to buy a war bond to have a pretty girl kiss him ought to get married.

The merchant who does not believe in advertising should hire somebody to write his advertisements.

Send the Courier to your man in the armed forces; there is nothing better for a Christmas gift.

The world has a number of individuals who will argue about anything, anywhere, any time.

Americans are too extravagant. Here they are with taxes for 1943 that few of them can afford.

Driving carefully will save lives on the highways, even with slower speeds and fewer automobiles.

Advertising budgets have no place for gifts; spend your money where you can expect the most return.

There is no way to do five hours' work in four; you might as well make your plans to fit your time.

An intelligent reader, seeking information, should disregard propaganda and ought to be able to recognize it.

"What has become of the old-time hospitality?" asked a man the other day, complaining, "Nobody has asked me to dinner."

A newspaper editor should stimulate thought without attempting to force action. Let readers take care of the situation, if they see fit.

The day of the business tycoon is nearing an end in the United States and nobody knows what economic changes will follow the war.

Despite aerial superiority, it is noted that the British, in Egypt, depended upon artillery and infantry to make their gains against the axis.

So far as we are concerned, the people of India ought to be thankful for what they have; they might have belonged to the Japs or the Germans.

U. S. submarines have sunk or damaged 133 Japanese ships since the war began. No wonder Secretary Knox is tickled with their effectiveness.

A year ago many Americans thought that we would never go to war; today many Americans think we will never experience hunger. Who knows?

Those who seek to create discord between the United States and her allies are doing the work of the axis, regardless of their intentions and protestations.

Now that the authors have presented us with 853 ways to win the war by next June, we wonder if our military men will be smart enough to follow all of them.

Some politicians think they must rule or ruin; the average editor has no desire to rule, and when his conscience prompts him to offer criticism, it is meant to be constructive.

We see where Gen. MacArthur decorated a congressman who flew over enemy positions; we wonder whether every private who flew over the same lines got the same medal.

F. S. A. PROGRAM

The program of the farm security administration is undergoing complete conversion to a war time footing, according to regional director Howard H. Gordon, chief administrative officer of the program in Kentucky.

Sharp changes in this direction were instituted following Pearl Harbor, but now it's an all-out conversion, with every activity of the FSA being weighed for its importance in accelerating the No. 1 job to be done—winning the war.

"Farm Security's main objective is the full utilization of manpower in the low-income population for increased food production," Mr. Gordon said. "The growing of more food is the primary method by which the unused labor in rural areas can be put to work on the farms of the country."

Food for freedom will come first in the thinking of FSA employees and borrowers alike. This does not mean the rehabilitation program will be ditched for the duration, for the director puts it, "The Food for Freedom effort will make a substantial contribution to the rehabilitation of our borrowers."

"It does mean, however, that this production effort is not merely an incidental part of our regular rehabilitation program. Food production comes first. Our loan policy, our collection policy, our health, tenure improvement, cooperative and farm ownership programs, and all other phases of the total FSA effort must be directed and properly coordinated into a smoothly geared and effective operation to reach this goal."

Among the most serious problems mentioned as facing low-income farm families are those of insecure tenure arrangements, lack of sufficient land, farming tools and equipment, planning and management, poor health, debt burdens, lack of operating capital, inadequate housing for family and livestock, and lack of opportunity for full-time employment.

Borrowers will be strongly urged to stretch every dollar of 1942 income to apply to repayments and for next year's operating capital. It is reasoned that for every borrower who can be self-supporting next year a new family can be given assistance and that as a result the use of government funds will thus cause the maximum increase in food production.

MAIL EARLY

The post office department now is starting the most gigantic task in its history—the movement of a deluge of Christmas parcels, cards, and letters while maintaining the regular flow of millions of pieces of mail daily to and from our armed forces all over the world.

Indications are that the volume of Christmas mail will be the largest on record. If thousands of our soldiers, sailors, marines, and civilian friends are not to be disappointed at Christmas time, the public must cooperate by mailing earlier than ever before and by addressing letters and parcels properly. The best efforts of the post office department alone cannot be enough, in view of wartime difficulties faced by the postal system. The public must assist.

The free-mailing privilege granted to members of the armed forces has raised their mailings some 30 percent, it is estimated. Expansion of those forces also is adding rapidly to the postal burden.

The deadline already is past for mailing gifts to army and navy personnel overseas with assurance that the parcels will arrive by Christmas.

The New York post office reports that in late October, 350,000 such parcels were handled daily in that office alone.

The post office department is making strenuous efforts to avoid such a terrific jam as it faced in 1918 under similar conditions, during the first World War. It can succeed in those efforts—and avoid many heartaches for its patrons—if the public will cooperate by mailing early.

FARM LOANS

Farmers who may be in need of funds to finance cover crops, feed for livestock, preparation of land for spring planting, seedling, cultivating, harvesting and spraying, or supplies incident and necessary to crop production may secure loans for meeting their needs from the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Section, Farm Credit Administration, St. Louis, Mo.

S. Q. McCraw, field supervisor, whose headquarters are at Paducah, Ky., will arrange for taking applications if interested farmers will either write to him, or your county agent.

Loans are being made available at this time to meet next year's farming operations with an initial installment being available for immediate requirements. The remainder of the loan will be available at the appropriate time. Interest is charged only on funds actually made available, so there will be no interest charges on the deferred portion of each loan until closed.

W.N.U. SERVICE

THE STORY SO FAR: Jeff Curtis and his wife, Lee, are already on their way to Tierra Libre when he receives a note from Zora Mitchell warning them not to come. They arrive to find both Zora and her husband dead. Although he investigated the fruit company that hired him before accepting a job as chief engineer, Jeff is already suspicious of the company and of his employer, Senator Montaya. Curt has been working with Jerry McEnnis, who works for a rival company, and with Bill Henderson and Slatz Monahan has reveal that there is something going on and that Mitchell and Zora were killed because they knew too much. Bill Henderson is killed, and Jeff is convinced his death is murder. Jeff and Montaya are talking to the company's two owners, Ryden and Lannestock.

NOW CONTINUE WITH THE STORYCHAPTER IX

This trend of talk was not to his liking, and Montaya patted Karl Ryden comfortingly on the shoulder and steered the conversation into other channels, mentioning at last the fatal injury of Bill Henderson the night before.

"They were good friends, the three of them. Karl and Gosta both feel Henderson's death keenly."

The proprietors satisfied, Montaya put a period to the meeting, much to the young men's relief.

"You haven't visited the airfield yet, Mr. Curtis," Montaya said in parting. "You can telephone any time it is—ah, convenient, to learn if Karl or Gosta is there to show you about. If you play tennis, they will be glad to have a new partner."

The three men left. Curt settled back in his chair, hoisted his feet, reached for his pouch. He felt vaguely unsatisfied—and couldn't put his finger on the reason.

Curt was a good organizer. He put his program on paper that Sunday night, at home, and made prodigious strides in the field during the next two days.

One big job was doubling man hours on railroad work—ballasting the main line, the pushing of two spur lines to feed farms already planted or now being planted.

Another was in putting all earth-moving machines and crews on two shifts a day, using floodlights hastily improvised from ordinary tin dishpans and washbasins.

There were minor matters under the Chief Engineer—farmhouses, wells and windmills, furniture manufacture, production of concrete items—culvert pipe, building blocks, reinforced girders and slabs to bridge farm ditches—all coming along at a fine pace.

But the really important jobs, the Rio Negro levee, the railroad branch lines to haul from present plantings to Tempico three or four months from now when fruit should start to come in—these things had dragged! The drainage ditches, too, were far behind schedule.

Curt sometimes talked over his problems with Lee. This usually amounted to a monolog, but putting bothersome angles into words seemed to help. And here was something in which Lee had a vital interest.

It was Tuesday evening. The children had been put to bed, and Curt was lounging on the darkened veranda, propped up with cushions, Lee in the curve of his arm. His dangling left foot lazily pushed the couch-hammock back and forth. It was the half-hour after dinner that he was snatching for himself.

They'd held a silence for some time, lulled by the gentle rattling of young palms in the evening breeze, so like rain on a tin roof. The lightning slither of a lizard darting up the screen to the wide overhanging eaves roused Curt. He sat straight and reached into a hip pocket for his tobacco pouch. When he spoke it was in a sober voice.

"Lee, I'm worried. No, not worried—puzzled is the word. There's something rotten going on here, and I don't know what it is. I'm afraid of stepping into something unaware. Like Mitchell might have. If I knew what it was, I could steer clear."

"What—what do you mean, Jeff?"

"You remarked about the coincidence of those three deaths. I didn't intend to go over this with you, but you're level-headed and whatever it is I've got us into, you're in it. You should have the whole picture."

"Jeff, what are you trying to say?"

"Lee, I'm convinced those three deaths were no coincidence. That they were all deliberate murders. The second and third, I suspect, to cover up the first."

"I knew it! Zora Mitchell couldn't possibly have committed suicide! Not the Zora I used to know. But Bill Henderson? What you told me about his accident..."

Curt was silent a moment. "I know. It looked like an accident, sure enough. But Lee, last Wednesday Bill told me he knew who killed Mitch, and then refused to tell me anything more for fear of involving me. He pointed out my precarious position, having you and the kids here. Said he'd work it out himself, for me to keep hands off. Well, I was all set to get behind that on Saturday night, and you know what happened."

He felt Lee stiffen beside him, but she didn't speak.

He went on. "You didn't know. I didn't tell you, but Zora Mitchell sent me an urgent note warning me not to come to Tierra Libre, not to bring my family. I got it in New Orleans and like a fool didn't look at that batch of mail readressed to us until we'd dropped the pilot and were out in the Gulf. Then it was too late to do anything about it. I kept quiet, not wanting to alarm you. I intended to talk with her first chance I got. But she—died."

He read fear in Lee's voice when she finally said, "Jeff, what are you leading up to?"

"I don't know, Lee, I don't know. I've been going over this business until I'm dizzy! Look. Here are several possibilities. Listen and give me your reactions."

"Go on."

"First, Bill Henderson knew who killed Mitchell, and why. That 'why' is somehow important, from the way Bill stressed it. He was done away with before he could pass it on. Zora knew something, and she died. Well, two deaths would seem to be for the purpose of covering up Mitchell's murder. Then, the crux of the whole business is why Mitch was killed. Was it really a personal grudge, or was it something deeper?" He paused.

"Well, Mitch was no fool, yet at the rate the work was going here, the coming rainy season would have flooded the whole valley again. The railroad and all the planting done this year would have been washed out!"

"Jeff, what are you driving at?"

"Well, Mitch was no fool, yet at the rate the work was going here, the coming rainy season would have flooded the whole valley again. The railroad and all the planting done this year would have been washed out!"

Knitwear Keeps You Warm and Smartly Attired All Day Long

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Such a splurge of things knitted of gay and beautiful yarns in intricate patterning and unique design as fashion is making this season.

Pullovers, cardigans by day and bed jackets by night; smart tailored woolknit jackets for town wear; sweaters for casual wear, for sports or attuned to dine-and-dance wear; waistcoats, vestees and dickeys too stunning for words; jerkins, too, to add extra warmth and to sound a convincing note of chic—this is the message fashion is broadcasting from the knitted realm in answer to the challenge of prospective lowered room temperatures in houses, theaters and stores this winter due to fuel restrictions, and of gas rationing, which will cause us to walk more than ever before.

One of the outstanding items of interest in the new collections is the waistcoat, now being revived in all its former glory. Note the smart checked knitted vestee, or waistcoat, shown to the left in the above picture. Here's warmth for you underwritten with a declaration of definite chic. Choose it in yellow, gray and white check as shown here, and you will make no mistake. Add a hundred per cent Australian wool sweater and you will have the kind of protection that cruel wintry blasts will find it difficult to penetrate.

As to tailor-knit jackets, they are not missing a fashion "trick" in their styling. They are taking the place of the gay tweed jackets (at least they make a grand alternative) which have been so conspicuously present for many seasons.

It takes masterly styling to achieve a knitted jacket as smart and patrician looking as the model shown at the lower right in the illustration. This navy and white tailored knit jacket is one hundred per cent wool. As pictured it is worn with wool slacks. It would be equally as good-style worn with a dress or with a separate skirt.

As to the new sweaters, volumes could be written about them. The prospect is that there will be a stampede this winter for both utilitarian types and evening modes of dazzling mien.

College girls are making a mad rush for twin sweater sets, a pull-over teamed with a jacket sweater type. Fashion is especially featuring shaggy effects, with teddy-bear cardigans in the lead. White sweaters with vivid wool embroidery and novelty yarn fringe trimming are particularly in the spotlight this season.

Evening sweaters provide a theme for poets to sing of and painters to glorify in portraiture. To say that they dazzle the eye is not a figure of speech, but literally so. The big news about them is their glittering embroidery. The white woolknit evening sweater shown above to the right is elegantly embroidered with pearls and fine gold braid. Note the novel bracelet embroidered directly on the knitted surface. Long "cultured" pearls, diamond earrings and a dainty spray-pin of pearls for the hair complete the jewelry ensemble.

By the way, it's correct to wear beads and jewelry with daytime sweaters as well as with evening knits. The smart young modern pictured in the group wearing the checked knitted vest is very appropriately flaunting a new version of the popular bangle bracelets in light and dark amber set in gold. Also, she is proudly wearing an amber ring set in gold and a chataigne gold watch suspended by a chain from a gold key pin.

Yarn Ensemble

This most intriguing hat and muff set goes to show the perfectly charming things that are being done with gay yarns this season. The flattening hat with its pert tall-pointed crown, together with the huge muff, is in a beautiful shade of turquoise blue yarn with black jet beads decorating the fringe. The enormous muff is a crochet and knit masterpiece. A dramatic jewelry ensemble of highly polished faceted jet adds the perfect touch to this accessory group.

Fluid Drape

The one dress that stands pre-eminently forth as making a grand success of it from the very beginning of the season is the silhouette dress of crepe, satin, or rayon or of wool jersey, that is made with utmost simplicity, its importance centering about the exquisiteness of its fluid drape that swings it into graceful slenderizing swings.

Quilted Satin

Quilted satin in pastel colors is a new medium for collar and cuff sets. Yokes with square necklines and dickeys with round "jewelry" necklines are popular. For fill-ins for velvet suits there are metal cloth dickeys in high colors, such as emerald, purple and fuchsia red.

Broiled vegetables brown better when dipped in salad oil or melted butter.

When unsalted fats are used to replace butter or margarines in baking, additional salt may be needed.

It is not usually advisable to let prepared but uncooked vegetables stand for any time in water; it frequently causes a loss of mineral content.

For those smokers on your Christmas gift list give a carton of cigarettes or a pound of smoking tobacco. Particularly those smokers in the service. Surveys show cigarettes and smoking tobacco are preferred gifts. Sales records from Post Exchanges and Cafes show the favorite cigarette is Camel. And, of course, for the service man who smokes a pipe—give Prince Albert—the National Joy Smoke. You have your choice of Camels in the Christmas Carton containing 10 packages of 20's—or the Camel "Holiday House" of four boxes of "flat fifties." Prince Albert comes in the pound canister—a grand gift. All are Christmas-wrapped and ready to give. Your local dealer is featuring them now as gifts sure to please.—Adv.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action
Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, irregular eating and drinking—it's risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. If they fail to become over-taxed and fail to filter out acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, listless, weak, irritable. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of successful approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!
